WAS IN FEAR OF TURK

RARBER JEFFS MAKES THIS CLAIM TO JUDGE

Said He and Shipping Master Had Trouble on Waterfront---Believed Defendant Dangerous.

A case of interest in the Police Court this forenoon was that in which Frank J. Turk appeared as defendant and H. Jeffs, the barber, as the com-pinining witness. Turk was charged with using threatening language toward Jeffs, the allegation being that he said he would knock the head off he barber and do several other things njurious to the bodily comfort of the complaining witness. The defendant as represented by Attorney Leon M. Straus while Attorney De Bolt ap-peared for the prosecution. The plea March 18. See notice under New To-I not guilty was entered.

Jeffs was the first witness placed on the stand. He stated that between 9 and in o'clock yesterday morning he has gone to the office of Lewis & Turk on the waterfront for the pur-pose of transacting some business. He went inside and asked for Turk. Be-fore he could say anything, the defendant came around from his deak a weapon.
and asked him to go outside. He thereupon said he would do all manner of demnation things to him in the way of bodlly in-lury.

The witness continued, stating that e was in fear of his life, and that he elleved Turk intended to do him bodily injury or perhaps kill him if he got the chance. He was in this great fear because he believed Turk to be I dangerous man. He had gone to gan will sell three parcels of Furk's office to collect some money for cent and Turk had not given him a sale. See ad in New Today. chance to say a word, but had threat-oned and then followed him up.

At this point a couple of receipts purporting to be those for the rent over which the trouble arose, were handed o the witness, who stated that he had never seen them before, although he mew that there were such papers in

Turk, on being put on the stand, de-ied everything that Jeffs said, makng the statement that the meeting beween himself and Jeffs had been en-irely devoid of any heat and that he nad never meant the complaining wit-ness any harm whatever. He had de-manded $6.10 of him as back rent, and he had said that he had paid every cent of the rent to Mrs. Jeffs. He thereupon produced the receipts from his back pocket and Jeffs walked away saying that he would see about it la-er. Wm. Johnson, an engineer, made he same statement of the case. When Jeffs was called back to the The Rights of Man," by Dr. Lyman Abbott.

ing of the present crop of sugar and ultimately resulting in the satisfac tory liquidation of all claims against the Kona Sugar Co, and the continua tion of the enterprise.

Believing fully and absolutely in the disposition of the receiver to do all that could be acre, and that every orsuch ends would be made by the court. frankness and good faith is bound to any judicial action to save the proper ty of the company to itself, to the com plainants or to the creditors

He is unable to state through whom or by what means the relief expected shall be secured, because the affiant cannot have positive assurance thereof so long as there is doubt in conse quence of the threatened action of the receiver that the laborers can be retained on the plantation.

The complainants have been ready and willing to advance supplies nec essary for the support of the labor, and affiant is informed that if the motion s granted in the wisdom of the court the creditors and other parties inter-ested will carry out methods of reiler.

Affiant believes that if this action remains in court and is set down for bearing, irreparable loss will entail upon all parties concerned, and affiant and complainants are willing and de sirous to discontinue the action for the sole and only purpose of preserving to themselves, to the Kona Sugar Company and to its creditors the assets o the company to the fullest extent.

Judge Humphreys announced that the motion would be sustained upon he satisfaction of the receiver's ac-counts and the payment to him of such reasonable fee as the Court might award him. As the receiver said ne would have the accounts ready, 2 o'clock this afternoon was set for re

O, R & L. CO. MEBTING.

The annual meeting of stockholders of the Oahu Railroad & Land Company which was adjourned from last week after the reading of the reports of the officers, is being held this afternoon in the room above Castle & Cooke's onices. The previous meeting was adjourned in order that certain amendments to the by-laws of the company could be made. At today's meeting these amendments are at hand in printed form and will be acted upon. The election of officers will also take place today. The reports of the officers, which were read at the previous meeting will probably soon appear in orinted form to be distributed among the stockholders.
